

October 7, 2021

A letter to Delegates, Speakers and Sponsors of Continuity & Resilience Today

CRT 2021 is going VIRTUAL!

Unfortunately, the COVID Delta variant sweeping through coupled with vaccinating the population taking longer than expected, has directly impacted the exposition industry to again having to cancel, postpone or pivot to virtual meetings and events. For Continuity & Resilience Today, most especially during these trying times, we recognize the importance of delivering timely lessons learned and new best practices to the business continuity community, and therefore without further delay is going VIRTUAL!

After more than 20 months of restrictions and near continuous disaster response it is now more vital than ever before to take a pause from your day-to-day operations and plan 2-days over December 1-2 to keep yourself up to date, to share your stories with peers and bring that new knowledge into play as the pandemic fight continues.

The CRT Planning Committee has worked hard to develop a fantastic Program that includes 5 renowned Keynotes, 2 in-depth Workshops, 1 interactive Panel and 10 diverse concurrent sessions, all hand-picked speakers delivering the latest on business continuity.

Besides budget friendly low registration fees, Conference Management provides a superior easy-to-use interactive online platform for live access to all sessions, networking with peers, new thought leadership presentations by Sponsors, Product Demos with Exhibitors, Vendor products & services, and a fun Happy Hour to close out the first day.

In closing, I tip my hat to you, our business continuity professionals. This ongoing pandemic has brought out the best in you keeping our businesses and operations running and supply chains intact.

I look forward to seeing you at the conference December 1-2.

Dan Joyce
Event Director
Macgregor Communications
djoyce@macgregorcom.com