A letter to Delegates, Speakers and Sponsors of Continuity & Resilience Today
November 30 – December 2, 2021

CRT 2021 is going VIRTUAL!

Unfortunately, the COVID Delta variant sweeping through coupled with vaccinating the population taking longer than expected, has directly impacted the exposition industry to again having to cancel, postpone or pivot to virtual meetings and events. For Continuity & Resilience Today, most especially during these trying times, we recognize the importance of delivering timely lessons learned and new best practices to the business continuity community, and therefore without further delay is going VIRTUAL!

After more than 20 months of restrictions and near continuous disaster response it is now more vital than ever before to take a pause from your day-to-day operations and plan 3-days over November 30 – December 2 to keep yourself up to date, to share your stories with peers and bring that new knowledge into play as the pandemic fight continues.

The CRT Planning Committee has worked hard to develop a fantastic Program that includes 5 renowned Keynotes, 2 in-depth Workshops, 1 interactive Panel and 10 diverse concurrent sessions, all hand-picked speakers delivering the latest on business continuity.

To help meet your needs, the new 3-day format means you have 2-3 hours every day to keep abreast of your day-to-day operations! Further, CRT delegates now have access to all DEMCON sessions which doubles the amount of available content with no extra fee!

Besides budget friendly low registration fees, Conference Management provides a superior easy-to-use online platform for live access to all sessions, networking with peers, new thought leadership presentations by Sponsors, Product Demos with Exhibitors, Vendor products & services, and interactive topical Round Tables at the close of each day.

In closing, I tip my hat to you, our business continuity professionals. This ongoing pandemic has brought out the best in you keeping our businesses and operations running and supply chains intact.

I look forward to seeing you at the conference November 30 – December 2.
